

Black Walnut Tolerant Trees & Shrubs

Black Walnut Tree's produce a chemical called juglone. Toxicity symptoms arise when juglone-sensitive plants are placed within the walnut's root zone, which can reach 50-60 feet from the trunk of a mature tree.

Trees

American Beech

American Elm

American Hornbeam

Blackgum

Catalpa

Dogwood

Honeylocust

Japanese Maple

Mulberry

Peach, Plum, Cherry

Quaking Aspen

Red Maple

Red Oak

Redbud

River Birch

Serviceberry

Sugar Maple

Sycamore

Tuliptree

Willow

Evergreens

American Holly

Arborvitae

Canadian Hemlock

Chinese Juniper

Common Juniper

Eastern Red Cedar

Shrubs

Arrowwood Viburnum

Barberry

Elderberry

Euonymus

Forsythia

Fragrant Sumac

Koreanspice Viburnum

Mockorange

Ninebark

Purple Leaf Sandcherry

Rose of Sharon

Smooth Hydrangea

St. John's Wort